REASONS TO INVEST

Targets Consistent Volatility

Globally Diversified Portfolio

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

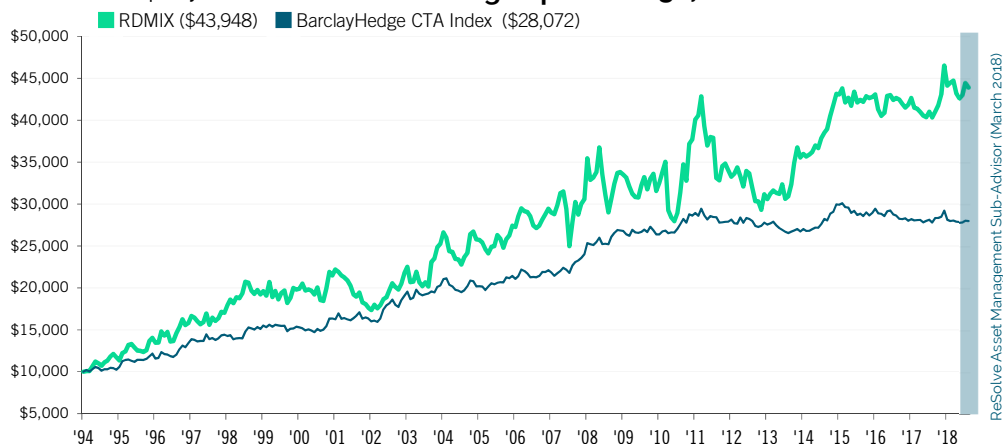

- The Fund invests in futures contracts and occasionally in exchange traded funds to gain dynamic exposure to global market opportunities across country equity indexes, fixed income, tradeable real estate, currencies, and commodities.
- Portfolios are formed using proprietary quantitative innovations to systematically emphasize global assets with strong and persistent trend and momentum characteristics, while maximizing diversification and minimizing total portfolio volatility.
- As portfolio weights and estimates of volatility and correlations change through time, the Fund will increase and decrease the gross exposure in an effort to maintain its target level of 12% annualized portfolio volatility.

The Fund acquired all of the assets and liabilities of Chesapeake Fund, LLC (the "Predecessor Fund") in a tax-free reorganization on September 30, 2016. In connection with this acquisition, shares of the Predecessor Fund were exchanged for Institutional Shares of the Fund. At the time of the reorganization, the Predecessor Fund had an investment objective and strategies that were, in all material respects, the same as those of the Fund, and was managed in a manner that, in all material respects, complied with the investment guidelines and restrictions of the Fund. Effective February 27, 2018, the Fund's investment strategy changed and a new Sub-Advisor replaced the prior sub-advisor. Consequently, prior performance may not reflect the Fund's current operations.

Investing in the Fund carries certain risks. The value of the Fund may decrease in response to the activities and financial prospects of an individual security in the Fund's portfolio. Investing in the commodities markets (directly or indirectly) may subject the Fund to greater volatility than investments in traditional securities. Commodity prices may be influenced by unfavorable weather, animal and plant disease, geologic and environmental factors as well as changes in government regulation such as tariffs, embargoes or burdensome production rules and restrictions. Derivatives are investments in which the value is "derived" from the value of an underlying asset, reference rate, or index. The value of derivatives may rise or fall more rapidly than other investments. For some derivatives, it is possible to lose more than the amount invested in the derivative. An investment in an exchange-traded fund (ETF) generally presents the same primary risks as an investment in a conventional fund that has the same investment objectives, strategies, and policies. In addition, ETFs may be subject to the following risks that do not apply to conventional funds: the market price of an ETF's shares may trade above or below their net asset value; an active trading market for an ETF's shares may not develop or be maintained; trading of an ETF's shares may be halted if the listing exchange's officials deem such action appropriate, the shares are delisted from the exchange, or the activation of market-wide circuit breakers halts stock trading generally. Because the Fund may invest its assets in ETFs that have their own fees and expenses in addition to those charge directly by the Fund, the Fund may bear higher expenses than a Fund that invests directly in individual securities. Emerging market securities tend to be more volatile and less liquid than securities traded in developed countries. The Fund is non-diversified and may invest a greater percentage of its assets in a particular issue and may own fewer securities than other mutual funds.
